Lorraine Austin

The Wonderful World of Watercolor

For Beginners and Intermediates

April 19th & 26th 2008

Saturdays, 9:00am - 3:00pm

I have been doing watercolor for over 20 years and have accumulated a wealth of information on the subject. I've taken numerous workshops from nationally known teachers, and have come away with an abundance of knowledge that makes each teacher unique in their own way.

Day 1) Color: We will focus on color; its beauty and richness and how the proper use of color makes a handsome painting. Primary, Secondary, Tertiary; its compliments and neutrals/grays are what we will concentrate on. We will do 6 palettes (I'm referring to paint, not the white paint palette itself, etc.) using simple subjects. No need to get fancy while you'r learning to do this. Using my special Palette Finder, you'll discover just how easy and exciting this is as you grasp the content of it. All the frustration of what pigment you should use and what goes together, etc., will be taken away.

It's a real eye-opener!

Day 2) Negative Painting: We will start off slow and easy. We will then progress to the next level, and the next level after that, etc.. As we go along, it will become more involved. This is a beautiful and challenging way of doing watercolor paintings.

You'll love this!
