Tom Allen

"Painting Creative and Sparkling Watercolors"

A 5-Day Workshop - All Skill Levels

September 13-17, 2010, 9am-4pm

In 1966, the Oregon Amateur Watercolor Society of which Tom Allen was president, teamed up with the Oregon Professional Watercolor Society, to become the Watercolor Society of Oregon. Tom has been an active WSO member ever since.

Tom's paintings are characterized by vibrant and brilliant color, reflecting his love of nature. He has exhibited his watercolors in scores of one-man shows and received many awards and honors for his work. His paintings are in galleries and private collections around the world.

Tom pursued art actively as a hobby during his illustrious career as a professor of plant pathology at Oregon State University. OSU presented him an Outstanding Scientist in Agriculture Award and designated Tom as Artist-In-Residence for the College of Agricultural Sciences. While at OSU he also taught drawing, acrylic, and watercolor classes at Linn-Benton Community College.

In this workshop, Tom will share his insights and skills in creating exciting, vibrant watercolors, both indoors and out. The first day will be inside at the Art Center, followed by two or three days of plein air, depending on weather conditions.
