Still Life in Oils - All Levels - 3 Days
April 22-24, 2010 - 9am-4pm

Jerry creates very exciting oil paintings on canvas featuring tranquil landscapes, pastures and livestock. He strives to "find and paint the overlooked beauty in the things that are available if you take the time to notice them." And he does a great job of it!

In this workshop, "Still Life in Oils", we will look at setting up our still life subjects for painting. Our efforts will be to find arrangements that will be pleasing to the eye and interesting to view. We will see how varying our brush strokes and edges can add a "painterly" quality to our work. We also will consider lighting and shadows as well as color use to achieve maximum effect. Participants are encouraged to bring some small curio, vase, or other object of interest to make the still life unique and personal. If you are a fast painter, please feel free to bring an extra canvas and do more than one painting. Jerry will provide the basic set up for the still life workshop. We will be painting from life, not photos.
