The Portrait in Dramatic Lighting

Oil Painting - All Levels - 3 Days
August 26-28, 2010 - 9am-4pm

Jerry creates very exciting oil paintings on canvas featuring tranquil landscapes, pastures, livestock and portraits. He strives to "find and paint the overlooked beauty in the things that are available if you take the time to notice them." And he does a great job of it!

In this workshop we will explore the use of dramatic lighting in portrait painting. The mood of a portrait is greatly affected by the type of light illuminating the subject. In the workshop we will see how the use of light, shadow and reflected light can be used to give the portrait both beauty and a "painterly quality" that may set it above the standard photograph. Artists are encouraged to bring reference photos of their own so the painting will have a personal touch. However, Jerry will provide reference photos that he will use for his demonstrations so all may paint the same portrait if so desired. Also, if you are a fast painter, you are encouraged to bring extra canvas and do more than one painting during the workshop.
